

NJ ENVIRONMENTAL EDUCATION WEB SITE
AN ELECTRONIC RESOURCE INFORMATION CENTER

ANJEE, the Center for Environmental and Agricultural Education at Rutgers (CEAE) and the Commission on Environmental Education (NJCEE) have entered into a unique partnership that takes advantage of the resources of the State University, the active network of ANJEE and legislative authority of the Commission. This partnership has initiated an electronic Resource Information Center that provides information about New Jersey's critical environmental issues, will produce a directory linking the formal education community with the non-formal and private sectors. This Resource Information Center has the potential to provide a wide array of "real time" environmental information through an existing satellite down link. While this web site is currently under construction, some of the basic information is accessible at the URL below.
